

Great News!

We are excited to announce that the annual IAPHS conference will be an in-person meeting in Baltimore this coming October 19-21st!! The Renaissance Baltimore Harborplace Hotel is open and working with us to host our conference within the constraints of any COVID-related restrictions. Please know that we will take the necessary precautions to protect the safety of all our members during the meeting. We know you will be excited to see your friends and colleagues in person, and we look forward to seeing you there!

Conference Program

“Racism, Power, and Justice: Achieving Population Health Equity”

The conference will feature a variety of panel, abstract contributed, plenary, lunchtime, and poster sessions. Stay up to date with conference details by clicking here.

Conference Registration

Registration is now open! Current members of IAPHS receive deeply discounted rates to attend the conference. If you aren't a member, join us! Should you have invoice/receipt specifics regarding membership or meeting registration, please contact Sue Bevan (sbevan@iaphs.org).

Click here to register for the conference.

Conference Hotel

Stay at the conference hotel! Click here to learn more.

Pre-Conference Workshops

IAPHS will offer four pre-conference workshops covering a range of topics. Workshops will be held virtually, prior to the in-person conference. Separate registration is required. Click here to learn more.

Mentoring Roundtables

We are pleased to offer our annual mentoring roundtables, organized by the IAPHS Professional Development Committee. Roundtables will be held virtually, in two different sessions, prior to the in-person conference. Separate registration is required. Click here to learn more.

We look forward to seeing you Baltimore, October 19-21, 2021!

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads 'Kathleen Mullan Harris'.

Kathleen Mullan Harris, IAPHS President